Allaudin Ottinger, one of America’s best loved leaders and mentors of the Dances of Universal Peace, is returning to New Zealand this year for his fourth visit. He is recognised as a senior teacher in the Sufi Ruhaniat International, and has performed as a professional musician, helping discover, uncover, and manifest the sacredness of sound. Allaudin’s relaxed style and good sense of humour combine with a profound depth of attunement to the divine. He has created many dances and is a master in leading people to a deeply refined connection with the divine through the practice of zikr.
